

Papercity

SEPTEMBER 2007

Zen Luxury Nail & Beauty Bar

1377 Legacy Dr., Frisco
214.618.4936
zensalons.com

Keys to the Door: Owner Mai Wong; manager Leah Stonebarger.
Luxe Manis, Posh Pedis: So maybe a sumptuous spa experience isn't quite all you need to truly attain nirvana — but sometimes it sure does feel like it. At this sleek new spot, start with the Signature Zen mani-pedi (we love the warm neck wraps and complimentary iPod), where you'll be seated in a specially designed leather chair around a soothing water fountain in this calming, Japanese-contemporary setting. Feeling really indulgent? Upgrade to one of the Ultimate Zens, with lavender paraffin wax and either a hot-rock massage for your hands or reflexology treatments for your feet. Zen has turned relaxation into an art form with its Philip B. Four Step Hair and Scalp Facial, the SkinMedica Vitalize Peel, the Akhassa Ginger Foot Compress and more. A major plus? Chanel is the in-house nail polish.
Bonnie Thompson

New Doors

We've turned over some new leaves — and found bushels of riches hiding beneath — behind September's sexiest shops, haunts and spots — everything from modern gear for the mini-me to a bounty of steaks and seafood.

Zen Luxury Nail & Beauty Bar
1377 Legacy Dr., Frisco
214.618.4936
zensalons.com

When the door opens, you're greeted by a warm, contemporary space. The Zen Luxury Nail & Beauty Bar is a sleek, modern spot where you can get a mani-pedi, a facial, or a full-body massage. The salon is designed with a focus on relaxation and luxury, featuring a signature Zen mani-pedi and a variety of spa treatments. The space is bright and airy, with a calming color palette and a soothing water fountain. The staff is professional and attentive, ensuring a relaxing and indulgent experience for every client.

Victory Tavern
8330 Oak St., Dallas
214.343.2000
victorytavern.com

Key to the Door: Owner Patrick Lohman; general manager Steve Hays.

America's Best: Lohman, the former restaurant owner, took a risk and opened Victory Tavern in 2006. The spot is an urban retreat in a historic building, where patrons can enjoy a wide range of dishes, from the succulent appetizers and all the way to the signature Sunday brunch. Housed up to the second floor is more the space is perfect for hosting a cocktail party or dinner for a group. There's a comfortable and warm atmosphere of the dining room, of a sophisticated space. All the while, the bar is a social hub, where patrons can enjoy a drink and a bite of food. The bar is a social hub, where patrons can enjoy a drink and a bite of food. The bar is a social hub, where patrons can enjoy a drink and a bite of food.

A16
1001 W. Central Expressway
214.343.0111
a16.com

Key to the Door: Owner, Travis and Suzanne Deane.

Key 1001: When a customer walks into A16, they're greeted by a warm, modern space. The restaurant is a blend of contemporary and classic design, featuring a long wooden bar and a menu of dishes that range from classic to modern. The staff is professional and attentive, ensuring a relaxing and indulgent experience for every client.

The Fish
214.343.0111
thefish.com

Key to the Door: Owner's David Lohman and Steve Hays.

Key 1001: When a customer walks into The Fish, they're greeted by a warm, modern space. The restaurant is a blend of contemporary and classic design, featuring a long wooden bar and a menu of dishes that range from classic to modern. The staff is professional and attentive, ensuring a relaxing and indulgent experience for every client.

